#1 Amasa Basin Available (Thursday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 60 miles

Trail Description: There are two routes to the top of Amasa Basin. Pronounced "Am-a-sie". The 50" or less route is more technical. The other one is side-by-side friendly. The guide will determine which route to take. You will need to trailer 80 miles west of Fillmore to the staging area. The trail begins at a sagebrush flat at the mouth of Miller's Canyon. The first part of the trail was built just for ATV's or UTV's. Either route will put a smile on your face and offer a unique desert riding experience. Your guide will make a stop at a large sink hole to show you what an underground prehistoric river can do. Visitors are surprised to see a lush green valley with stands of aspen and unusually shaped rock formations. The climb on the west side of the valley takes riders to a breathing-taking cliff with an aerial view of the valley nearly a mile below and mountains of Utah and Nevada in the distance. The adjacent cliffs are home to a stand of Bristlecone pines, some of which are several hundred years old. Remember your camera for the breathtaking views. The local Bureau of Land Management (BLM) office hosts this ride during the Jamboree with some excellent guides.

Trailhead: This is a traileed ride. You will need to trailer 80 miles west of Fillmore to the staging area

#2 Burnt Fork Loop Available (Thursday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 70 miles

Trail Description: Burnt Fork is the official name of a junction riders will see about halfway through this ride. The ride is the grand tour of the spine of the Pahvant Mountains, making a giant loop up one end of the mountain range by climbing to nearly 10,000 feet in elevation, traversing the spine of the range with its amazing views and cool pines and aspen trees, then down through some equally picturesque scenery to the valley below. This will be a long ride but the diversity of what you will see will be well worth the drive.

#3 Corn Creek to Fremont Indian State Park Available (Wednesday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 80 miles

Trail Description: Traveling through the farm fields from Fillmore to Kanosh, the group will then head up Kanosh (Corn Creek) Canyon, enjoying the shady cottonwoods along the road and creek. The trail passes Adelaide Campground which is historical. It was originally a homestead settled by the Paxton Family. The pavilion you can see from the road was part of the old home. Some say there are apple trees in the area, although I have never seen them. Toward the top of the canyon the road turns to the south and continues through patches of oak and meadows with some areas of cedar as you climb in elevation. Here the road intersects the old Clear Creek Highway and travels down it with its high, interestingly shaped sandstone cliffs on either side. There is a stretch of pavement at this point before the canyon widens and the route is soon at the Fremont Indian State Park.

Trailhead: This ride leaves from Jamboree Headquarters.

#6 Devil's Arm Chair Available (Saturday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 50 miles

Trail Description: Plan on about six hours of riding. The first part of the trail takes you up Sand Rock Ridge. Those of you that have ridden this before will be interested in the changes that have been made to the route. Once you reach the top of the mountain, the trail takes you south along the spine of the Pahvant Range through stands of aspen and pine as well as open areas with views for miles in all directions. The elevation for most of the ride will be between 9,000 and 10,000 feet. The Devil's Arm Chair is a sandstone formation on the west side of the mountain range with town of Kanosh seen just a few miles west of it. This view also gives you a chance to see the volcanic activity that happened a couple million years ago up to a few centuries ago in the Pahvant Valley. To see the "arm chair" you need to use a little imagination! I think the Devil must have a sense of humor!

The tour will leave Kanosh to the south, past Kanosh Cemetery, into the foothills to the mouth of Dry Wash. Dry Wash is a beautiful trail built along the edges of the wash overlooking and dipping down through the stream numerous times before entering a forest of tall cedars and stands of oak then entering the Big Oaks section. The tour will work its way back to the main Kanosh Canyon road, descend to Kanosh, and backtrack through Kanosh and Meadow to Fillmore. In the spring and early summer Dry Wash is a green tunnel of trees. Your guide will challenge you to count the number of stream crossing. HINT it is more than 20!

#8 Fillmore Loop Available (Friday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 50 miles

Trail Description: The Fillmore Loop a.k.a. known as Sand Rock Ridge is one of the original and most popular on the Jamboree. It can be a great family trail and should take about five to six hours to complete. It is steep on some parts of SAND ROCK RIDGE, although construction in the last two years has made it safer, still care should be taken for inexperienced riders. Those who have climbed the ridge in the past will be surprised at its remodeling. This trail loop is driven on graded forest and ungraded jeep roads. The trail will reach an altitude of approximately 10,000 feet. Make sure that your machine is jetted for this altitude. Fuel injected ATV's will be just fine. The trail has some excellent vistas, bring your camera. A stop at the head of PARADISE CANYON will be a real crowd pleaser. Some years we experience above normal snow fall and the trail has to be cut through the snow banks. The trail winds through pine and aspen forests. There is a restroom, trail kiosk, and picnic table at the top near White Pine, approximately 14 miles into the ride. From the restroom, you will head north for 10 miles across the spine of the Pahvant Range, then turn west and return down Chalk Creek. As you come down Chalk Creek you may either continue through the stream crossings (50 inch or less) or take the main canyon road that is open for all size machines. Early morning and late evening are great times to see the wild life. A must for any visitor to the area. This ride is for ALL vehicles your guide will point out 50" trails along the way.

#9 Gooseberry Available (Wednesday)

Intermediate (limited to 50" or less)

50 miles

Trail Description: The Gooseberry Ride is approximately 60 miles long, 90% of which is ATV trail. The ride is well worth the hour+ of highway driving to get to the trailhead. Drive to Salina and up I-70, seven miles east of Salina. Exit at the Gooseberry exit and go south on the paved road about 10 miles. Soon after passing the Gooseberry Campground on the right, there is a large gravel parking area on the left marked Sheep Creek Trailhead. The group will follow each other to this trailhead, so we don't lose anyone. From this unloading point, two large loops will be made. The first makes a stop at the Browns Hole Trailhead and then on to the turnoff where the road descends through the quakies and pines down into Browns Hole. At the bottom, the trail abruptly begins its steep climb up the face of the mountain through a tunnel of oak and maple. With many sharp turns, the route feels like being on a roller coaster. Several switchbacks bring the riders to the top of the mountain once again, following the ridge to the junction with the Maple Canyon Trail, and eventually the Oak Ridge Trail and winds back to the Browns Hole Trail Head. The trail passes through the aspen and on to the Gates Lake Loop, past Farnsworth and Hamilton Reservoirs, then across bridges built just for ATV use with a stop at Gates Lake. The trail rejoins a dirt road at Gates Lake and makes its climb high onto the mountain and into the pines. Breathtaking switchbacks wind down the mountain and end where the trail retraces its path for a short distance in the aspen and the riders are soon back to the trucks. One past participant, an ATV newspaper writer, described this trail as the "best ATV trail on the planet"!

#10 Ice Caves Available (Tuesday)

Beginner (open to all ATVS/UTVS)

20 miles

Trail Description: Do you say Ice Caves? Yes less than 30 minutes from Fillmore there are Ice Caves in the Lava Rock. Not too long ago you were able to walk into the Ice Caves similar to a walk in freezer. Unfortunately the Ice Caves have fallen victim to vandalism. 100 years ago families could get ice from the cave for their iceboxes. There are still some remnants of the original ice caves. We ask that you tread lightly in this area to preserve the remaining ice caves.

#11 Ironman/Women Available (Friday)

Advanced (limited to 50" or less)

50 miles

Trail Description: Those who want to see some great scenery with steep, difficult riding sections at a moving-right-along pace need to try this one. Definitely not for the beginner. The ride will leave the Jamboree staging area at 8 a.m. and trailer to the Kanosh Church Parking. After unloading the group will travel toward the canyon, then turn off and wander through the pinyon/juniper on a rocky trail. The trail begins its climb over South Mountain where the 50" trail begins. Many twists and turns takes the trail to a ridgetop where it eventually goes down First Creek through several stream crossings. After hitting the main canyon road, the route soon exits again to make the steep climbs up Al Gay and Pea Vine, finding the main road at the top of the mountain among stands of quakes and pines. The route makes a loop along Paiute 01 and down Horse Flat into Kanosh Canyon and back. (Used to be Billy's Secret Ride.)

#12 Kanosh Loop Available (Friday)

Beginner (limited to 60" or less)

50 miles

Trail Description: You will ride on improved gravel roads for the first 13 miles, winding your way past hay and corn fields until you come to the town of Kanosh. Fuel is available there if you want to top off your tank. From Kanosh the trail is well marked as you travel southeast to Dry Wash. You will enjoy the cool oak trees and splashing through several small streams (doesn't sound too dry to me). The trail continues for several miles through Dry Wash and Big Oaks, then rejoining the main Kanosh Canyon road. The route soon takes an exit at Cottonwood Junction and climbs up onto the mountain where scenery changes quickly from sagebrush and juniper to oak and then aspen and pines. The first leg of the trip takes you along the 01 Trail and then swings around to take in the upper road on the top of the mountain. Watch for wildlife, especially elk and deer. After you make the loop on top of the mountain, the trail heads down Corn Creek (Kanosh Canyon) and returns to Fillmore. In the spring and early summer Dry Wash is a green tunnel of trees. Your guide will challenge you to count the number of stream crossings. HINT it is more than 20!

#13 Kimberly Available (Thursday)

Intermediate (open to all ATVs/UTVs) 70 miles

Trail Description: The majority of this ride is not difficult, but it has been rated intermediate for its length of 65-70 miles. The group will trailer to the staging area at Fremont Indian State Park. The ride is mostly through forested areas with great views of the 11,000+ foot peaks of the Tushar Range with the trail itself surpassing 10,000 feet. The tallest point you will see is 12,173 feet (Delano Peak). These peaks are inaccessible at this time of year because of the snow. As you start your trip, you will travel through the cottonwood trees crossing a small creek several times. The first 9 miles of this trail have been described as the prettiest in the whole Paiute ATV Trail system. You will gain elevation quickly and travel through some very dense pine and aspen forests from time to time. The trail meets up with the main forest road where you will travel to the town of Marysville, then up the canyon to Miners Park. It then retraces the route to Marysville and through the valley to Hoovers Café, a great place to take five minutes and rest. You will then enter Deer Creek Canyon for the ride back up the mountain and on to Kimberly. There will be stops at mining areas such as the Silver King Mine, the Kimberly mining town, Bullion City, and others. As you make your way through the pine and aspen forests you will be impressed by the beauty of this mountain. Every turn is a KODAK moment.

#19 Pine Creek Canyon Available (Saturday)

Intermediate (limited to 50" or less)

30 miles

Trail Description: Pine Creek Canyon lies in the mountain not many miles east of Fillmore. Taking the Sand Rock Ridge Road, the riders pass through the east side of town and wind up the bottom of Maple Canyon where the county road crosses into the Fishlake National Forest. The vegetation first includes stands of juniper and with some stands of maple. Exiting the main road, the trail continues along the canyon and soon enters the canopy cover of large maple trees. A pleasant relief from the heat of a summer day. The trail soon climbs up a rocky, rutted dugway to the top of the ridge. Here the right-hand trail soon enters private, fenced off property. The left fork continues on up a loose rocky ridge with an occasional switchback. This section of the trail is quite historical. In early lumbering days, this was known as the Jack Payne Hill because of a fatal accident here years ago. An interpretive sign tells the story of Jack Payne. As the trail enters Pine Creek Canyon, the names becomes obvious as the creek is bordered by pines to the end of the trail. At one time, this trail actually came out high on the mountain in an area of quakies, but a major, unpassable rockslide ended trail clear through the canyon. Retracing the route, the group will continue up to the Pine Creek Weather Station, a side trail off Sand Rock Ridge to see the "rest of the story".

Trail Description: Teeples Canyon is actually a short side trip off the Pioneer Canyon Trail. It is not for the beginning rider! Climbing through the boulders of the creek bottoms, the route crawls through maple, aspen, and pines. There is an old steam engine in the canyon that once powered an old saw mill. Nearly every canyon in the area had a saw mill at one time or another and the entire operation was usually moved to another canyon when they were finished. In Teeples Canyon there are still some reminders of days gone by. A great ride for an experienced rider.

#29 White Sage Flat Available (Tuesday)

Advanced (limited to 50" or less)

40 miles

Trail Description: From start to finish this exciting trail will take you about three hours to traverse. It's a great ride if you're looking to fill out an afternoon or just take a quick spin. At the mouth of Chalk Creek Canyon there is an area to load and unload ATV's and horse trailers. From there you need to take the road to the left and then cross the bridge. Turn left at the sign that says White Sage. The trail will continue for about a quarter of a mile. There are several switchbacks and rocks on the trail, so watch your tire rims. When you reach the top of WHITE SAGE, you'll find it an excellent place for lunch. As you tackle the trail, a watchful eye should see wild turkeys, deer, and depending on the time of year you could see elk. When you leave WHITE SAGE and head down the trail you should be prepared to get wet. The trail runs into Chalk Creek. You will cross the creek several times. At one point the creek is the trail. An excellent trail to cool off on. One trail the advanced rider will repeat time and time again.

TBD

XX miles

Trail Description: Here is a UNIQUE opportunity to design your own ride. Whether you are a novice to this area, very knowledgeable of this area, missed a ride this week or you just want to learn a new trail, give us your ideas on a ride. You and/or some of your fellow riders can decide where you want to go. We will do our best to have guides available to take you on your ride. This ride is only offered on Saturday, so we cannot trailer. Here is what you need to do:

- Find one of the rides that was taken earlier in the week or describe the area you want to ride.
- Write the name of the ride along with the names of the riders and the phone number of the leader on the board.
- Call Sherry 435-253-0575 and she will attempt to find you a guide.
- We are hoping to have several guides available.
- Do not pick a trailered ride as they are too long and you would miss other activities. Also stay away from the lunch runs.
- The earlier you do this, the more likely we will be able to find you and guide.
- Deadline - Friday, 8 p.m.
